You spend a lot of money and exercise no control on many occasions. Though you have to live away from your family you do not bother very much about it and you are destined to lead a very happy family life. One of the reasons for this success is the state of mind and character of your wife. It is probable that you may have only a limited number of close relatives. If you can succeed in controlling your anger it will serve you in the long run.

If you once misunderstand some people you will never have any transactions with them. This sternness of character brings forth many confusions and troubles. You may be capable of suppressing your dislike when you have to behave to them. Similarly you can very safely keep the secrets of other people. But by nature you are benevolent and have a sense of justice and so you are quite confident of your public support. Though you may help some people in their real need, you may impose yourself certain limits in interfering with the material conditions. Your intervention is based on certain principles and it is done only where it is necessary you have a particular frame of reference and code for your interaction with others.

Life is a competition, in which you learn from your errors and correct your behaviours, and life ought to be pursued as an independent thing for you and as such, you succeed in it. You are a person to whom a work can be entrusted with confidence, and it is very difficult to find any glaring mistake or fault from you. If anybody tries to find fault with you, he/she may become an object of ridicule. You show interest in not only doing things yourself, but making others do things according to your direction or independently. But when too much wealth comes to your custody, your tendency is to spend it lavishly. As you are a hedonist, with a love for pleasure, on occasions you may behave without any forethought and act indiscriminately. Though you expect others to trust you, you are not prepared put any trust on others yourself at all. Since you have the notion that others may cheat you, you act only with perfect caution in all your dealings with others. But you have a tremendous capacity for work and the gift of the gab to get things done by others well and quickly. You are not interested in public service at all. You may excel in agriculture, sales, and official work and in artistic activities.
